

What We Do

Coil Construction offers a full range of services in both design/build and construction management for professional, retail, industrial and institutional construction. Our experienced team of designers, engineers, architects and project managers is able to assess each project based on its individual needs, providing the recommendations and guidance that ultimately make a building project more successful. 